DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections –35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 USC § 102 (b) as being anticipated by Yoon (KR 2003039287A).

Yoon teaches a tea bag product comprising green tea and leaves of Stevia (Abstract) which reads on claim 1. Yoon specifically pointed out the percentage of green tea, 5%, which falls into the range of 1-15% in claims 4, 5, 8 and 9. The product does not contain sucrose, which reads on “free of sucrose” in claims 3 and 7. Since the product further comprising fruits Schizandra chinensis at 1% that would contain vitamins, it reads on claims 2, 5, and 9 as well.

Thus, the invention is anticipated over the reference.

Claim Rejections –35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoon (KR 2003039287A) in combination with Li (CN 1086091A).

As discussed above, Yoon teaches a tea bag product comprising green tea, leaves of Stevia (Abstract) and vitamins.

Yoon does not teach a tea bag product comprising Chinese licorice roots.

Li teaches a tea bag product comprising licorice roots that are Chinese herbal medicine (Chinese licorice roots).

Li does not teach a tea bag product comprising green tea, leaves of Stevia (Abstract) and vitamins.

It is well known that it is prima facie obvious to combine two or more ingredients each of which is taught by the prior art to be useful for the same purpose in order to form a third composition which is useful for the same purpose. The idea for combining them flows logically from their having been used individually in the prior art. In re Sussman, 1943 C.D. 518; In re Pinten, 459 F.2d 1053, 173 USPQ 801 (CCPA 1972); In re Susi, 58 CCPA 1074, 1079-80; 440 F.2d 442, 445; 169 USPQ 423, 426 (1971); In re Crockett, 47 CCPA 1018, 1020-21; 279 F.2d 274, 276-277; 126 USPQ 186, 188 (1960).

Therefore, it would have been prima facie obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine Chinese licorice roots in Li with the green tea and leaves of Stevia in Yoon. Since both of the tea bag products yielded beneficial results individually in the art, one of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to make the modifications. The result-effective adjustment in conventional working parameters (e.g., determining the concentration of the Chinese licorice roots within the composition) is deemed merely a matter of judicious selection and routine optimization that is well within the purview of the skilled artisan.

Thus, the invention as a whole is prima facie obvious over the references, especially in the absence of evidence to the contrary.

Conclusion

No claim is allowed.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
